Portfolio Characteristics, Sector Allocation and Regional Allocation information refers to a representative account and is provided for illustrative purposes only – individual client accounts will vary. Weighted average market capitalization represents the average value of the companies held in the portfolio. When that figure is weighted, the impact of each company's capitalization on the overall average is proportional to the total market value of its shares. Price-to-earnings ratio is an equity valuation measure defined as market price per share divided by annual earnings per share. Earnings per share is another valuation measure. It is a company's total earnings or net income divided by its shares outstanding. Earnings per share, price to earnings ratios and other valuation models do not guarantee future performance or results. DSM may not be successful in predicting EPS growth or P/E ratios and, as a result, investors may experience losses. The Return on assets ratio compares a company's total assets with its earnings after tax and interest. Return on equity is a measure of the profitability of a business in relation to the equity. The Price-to-book ratio is used to compare a company's current market value to its book value. Long-term debt to capital denotes the weighted average of each security's long-term debt divided by the total capital of the security. Dividend yield is the dividend per share divided by the price per share. Measured in percent, Active share represents the portion of a portfolio that differs from its benchmark. It is calculated as half the sum of the absolute active weights of all securities in a portfolio. It ranges from 0% for an index-tracking fund to 100% for a portfolio with no overlap with its benchmark. The higher the percentage, the more "active" the manager is. Turnover is a measure of the portfolio's trading activity. It is computed by taking the lesser of purchases or sales and dividing by the average monthly net assets.

The CIF is not a mutual fund. Its shares are not deposits of Hand Benefits & Trust Company, a BPAS company, or of DSM Capital Partners LLC, and are not insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other agency. As market conditions fluctuate, the investment return and principal value of any investment will change. Diversification may not protect against market risk.
