

DSM Expressway Strategy

June 2026

The Expressway Opportunity Set – Casting a Wider Net

DSM launched the Runway strategy in January of 2024 as an acknowledgment that the rapid and dynamic evolution of Artificial Intelligence and other disruptive innovations was creating more quality growth investment opportunities than ever before in history.

Applying the firm’s long-standing investment philosophy of Quality, Growth, and Valuation, the investment team identified a group of quality companies with long “runways” of growth (not runways to growth) over the next five-to-ten years. These are high quality, profitable companies with a focus on operationally superior businesses, strategically managed and surrounded by moats of competitive advantages unable to be easily overcome by competitors. “Casting a wide net” allowed DSM to include companies across multiple industries that are benefitting from the accelerating growth benefits of AI adoption.

Following the successful launch of Runway and after receiving considerable feedback and interest from clients and prospects, DSM has launched a variation of the Runway strategy called Expressway. Like Runway, Expressway is designed to capture quality investment opportunities in companies experiencing high growth. Expressway has fewer holdings than Runway, removing some names in favor of greater concentration in companies participating in the AI revolution.

No representation or warranty is made with respect to such statements and future events may differ materially from those contemplated herein. Projected earnings growth is shown for informational purposes only and is based on various assumptions, including historical performance for similar investments and/or current market conditions. Risks and uncertainties mean the actual growth could differ materially from the projected earnings growth. There is no guarantee that the projected earnings growth will occur. Projected earnings growth is theoretical and does not represent actual trading or the impact of economic or market factors and is not a projection of the return on any investment or of any client account.

Earnings per share, price to earnings ratios and other valuation metrics/ratios do not guarantee investment success. DSM may not be successful in predicting EPS growth or P/E ratio and other ratios/metrics, and as a result, client portfolios may fail to meet investment objectives and investors may experience losses. Investment outcomes may be materially worse than presented herein. The price-to-earnings ratio is an equity valuation metric defined as market price per share divided by annual earnings per share. It can be simplified as the ratio of total market capital value over earnings. Earnings per share is a company's total earnings or net income divided by its shares outstanding. Earnings per share can be found by taking the net income and dividing it by the basic or diluted number of shares outstanding.

Certain information contained herein is based on DSM proprietary models. The use of models and/or tools does not guarantee investment success. Models/tools apply statistical methods and a series of fixed assumptions to derive estimates of asset class performance. Reasonable people may disagree about the appropriate assumptions. Models/tools also have limitations. For instance, assumptions may not be consensus views, or the models/tools may not be updated to reflect current economic, market or political conditions. Models/tools should not be relied upon to make predictions of actual future performance. DSM has no obligation to provide updates or changes to such data. DSM projections are not guarantees of future results and there is no representation that these securities were, would have been or will be profitable. Performance-based criteria was not used to compile the contribution to return lists. The holdings were selected over the measurement period shown in a mechanical and objective manner by using a calculation to show their relative impact on overall performance; they were not included or excluded for any other reason. The holdings identified may not represent all of the securities purchased, sold, or recommended. The calculation computes the contribution of each holding by calculating the weight (i.e., percentage of the total account) invested in each holding multiplied by the rate of return for that holding during the measurement period. The result shows each holding's contribution to the overall return during the measurement period. A complete list of all recommendations made by DSM is available upon request.
